Personal Creations:

Contrast: In this flyer I stuck to a specific color scheme of green, pink, and white. I chose these colors because I thought they complimented each other and made this flyer really stand out.

Repetition: My example of repetition in this flyer is on the right side when I kept on centering my information.

Alignment: I think the way I aligned everything was very nice, for my side information I had everything centered then when I came out to the left side I aligned everything to the left. The reason I did this was because I thought it made everything look nicer.

Proximity: My example of proximity in this flyer is when I separated my information in the green block, pink block, and the white block.

Purpose: My purpose for creating this flyer was to let students know what it is like to play sports in college.

Audience: My audience for this flyer are student athletes.

Genre: I believe this flyer fits under the genre of informative.

Engagement: My purpose for creating this flyer was to let students know the advantages and disadvantages of being a student athlete in college.
